Survivors of Domestic Violence, Victims of Sponsorship Abuse or Human Trafficking

This section is for applicants who are survivors of domestic abuse or human trafficking. To apply for the Special Priority Program, applicants are required to complete the Special Priority application, provide proof of joint residency with the named abuser, and verification of abuse signed by a qualified professional, as detailed on the application form.

☐ Are you applying for Special Priority status because you are currently living with a person who is abusing you or a member of the household and you intend to separate permanently? (Download and complete the application for Special Priority at Special Priority Program.)

☐ Are you applying for Special Priority status because you are a survivor of human trafficking? (Download and complete the application for Special Priority at Special Priority Program.)

Homelessness

If you are experiencing homelessness*, please fill out this section of the application.

*Homelessness includes:

- Staying outdoors, in an encampment, other place not fit for human habitation (e.g. vehicle, abandoned building)
- Staying in a homeless shelter (e.g. emergency/transitional shelter, hotel/motel shelter program, Violence Against Women shelter)
- Staying in a homeless overnight service (e.g. 24-hour respite site, warming centre)

Note: Couch surfing or staying temporarily with others is not considered homelessness for the purpose of the rent-geared-to-income disadvantaged priority.

Terminally Ill Priority

This section is for applicants or members of their household who are terminally ill. To apply for the Terminally Ill Priority, applicants are required to have a medical professional complete the Terminally Ill Application indicating the applicant has a less than two-year life expectancy. As part of the application, an additional bedroom for medical reasons can be requested.

A member of my household has a terminally ill diagnosis, meaning the verified life expectancy is less than two years. (Download and complete the Request for Priority - Terminally Ill Application form at Request for Priority for Terminally Ill.)

Accessibility Needs

This section is for applicants or members of their household who use a mobility device or have mobility issues and require a fully or partially modified unit.

By indicating your accessibility needs on the Medical Request for Modified Unit form, you may be eligible for a modified unit, however, you may accept an offer for a non-modified unit and discuss needed accessibility modifications with your housing provider.

Households can also request an additional bedroom for medical reasons, including for an overnight caregiver.

When making housing offers, a housing provider cannot discriminate based upon a number of prohibited grounds of discrimination, including physical disability. The Duty to Accommodate, as set out in the Ontario Human Rights Code, means that housing providers are required to accommodate a prospective tenant's accommodation needs arising from a physical disability to the point of undue hardship.

I am requesting a wheelchair accessible or modified unit. (Download and complete the Medical Request for Modified Unit form at Medical Request for a Wheelchair Modified Unit.)

Many locations have units that are accessible to people who require a wheelchair. If you need a unit that is wheelchair accessible, please mark that selection of the application. When you make your housing choices, you will only see sites that have wheelchair accessible housing. The centralized waiting list administrator and the housing provider will require more information from you to ensure that the unit meets your housing needs.

☐ I am requesting an additional bedroom for my household for medical reasons. (Download and complete the Medical Request for Additional Bedroom form at Medical Request for Additional Bedroom.)
